THANKSGIVING

Harvest 84, 86

Brother Placid (Lawrence) Stuckenschneider was born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on May 19, 1926. While he was still a young boy, his family moved to Great Falls, Montana, where he attended grade school and high school. During the war he served in the Pacific theater, working as a cartoonist on the staff of Stars and Stripes. After two years in the army, he began his professional art training at Layton Art School, Milwaukee, and later at Notre Dame University, San Miguel de Allende, Mexico, and Black-hawk Mountain School of Art in Colorado.

In 1948 Brother Placid entered the Benedictine monastery of St. John's Abbey, Collegeville, Minnesota, and made his profession of vows on March 21, 1950. He spent five years at the Red Lake Indian Mission in northern Minnesota and a year at Abadia de San Antonio Abad, Puerto Rico. It was during this period that he began his career as a liturgical artist, designing book covers and illustrating texts for books and Sunday bulletins published by The Liturgical Press, where he still works as a staff artist.

In addition to graphic arts, Brother Placid works with a wide variety of materials to produce welded sculpture, woodcarvings, stained glass, ceramic murals, and assemblage. His work has been displayed in three one-man shows and in various exhibits. He has also served as a liturgical consultant and designer of sanctuary appointments for some thirty parishes in the Upper Midwest.

Brother Placid exercises his artistic talent in the service of God and the Church with a humble use of materials at hand. It is hoped that this collection of his designs will extend that service to a broad and appreciative audience.
